This Court's June 26, 2018 opinion affirmed defendant's convictions but vacated his sentences because the trial court failed to articulate reasons for imposing consecutive sentences. We retained jurisdiction to further consider the sentencing question should the trial court again impose consecutive sentences. On remand, an amended judgment of sentence was entered September 5, 2018 that imposed concurrent sentences. The consecutive sentencing issue having thus been resolved, the remaining issue in this appeal has been rendered moot. Therefore, on the Court's own motion, this appeal is DISMISSED. MCR 7.211(C)(2); MCR 7.216(A)(7). This Court does not retain jurisdiction.
